About Railroad Matters.

UMATILLA, January 2d, 1868.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

I have lately noticed several communications in the Portland papers, which seem to favor every other route which has been spoken of, in preference to that via Salt Lake and the Columbia river. Permit me now to say a few words in favor of the claims of Eastern Oregon, and the section of country through which a railroad from Salt Lake would necessarily pass.

The old emigrant road through the South Pass to the Columbia river has heretofore been traveled by thousands of persons in quest of a home in Oregon and Washington Territory, and it still continues to hold a deserved preference over all other northern routes. It follows a natural and feasible course for a great national highway. There may be other routes to the north of it which are shorter and better—for instance, the military road built by Captain Mullan—but if such is the case it is very unfortunate for their reputation that emigrants even from the most northern States have always failed to appreciate their advantages. It was traveled for many years before steamboats were used on the Columbia river; and since their introduction another argument has been added in its favor. This river would form two great natural feeders to the road, one coming in from the east, and the other from the west; while the road would also increase the business of the river.

A daily mail is now carried in stages along the whole length of the route of the proposed road; and during the summer season hundreds of teams and pack trains are engaged in transporting freight over it to supply the wants of the population residing in its vicinity.

A shrewd capitalist, who has property to improve, generally follows the old maxim of doing that first which needs doing most. If he is the owner of city lots, for instance, he builds on those first which are centrally located, in preference to those that are in the remote suburbs. Especially would he do so, if the central lots could be improved for less than half the cost required for those on the outside. A prudent government should act upon the same principle. Now what local interests are there, west of the Rocky Mountains upon the proposed northern route, of either a mining or agricultural nature, which would help sustain a railroad to any considerable extent, or that need a work of that kind for their immediate development? With the exception of that portion of the route which would be passed over by a railroad from Salt Lake to Puget Sound, they are of but little consequence. Between the Rocky Mountains and the point where the proposed northern road would intersect with the route from Puget Sound to Salt Lake, the whole country is but little better than a region of desolation, and will probably never contain more than a very limited number of inhabitants.

A railroad from Salt Lake to the Columbia river would be a greater advantage to Portland, and to the whole Willamette valley, than one built upon a more northern route. It would furnish them with the most direct and speedy means possible for communication with the Eastern States; it would offer new inducements to emigrants, and thereby assist in building up and increasing the value of the whole of Oregon. The merchants could have their goods sent over it from the East, and thereby be no longer dependent upon San Francisco; and the farmer could have his most valuable produce sent back upon it, to supply the wants of the mines, and for Eastern consumption.

Such a road would be of as much benefit to Northern Idaho as the proposed Northern line, and probably more. The miners in that part of the Territory obtain their supplies from Lewiston, which point would have direct communication by steam with the Salt Lake road; but not with the northern road, unless it should make a detour to the south, and cross the Columbia river below Priest's Rapids. The Salt Lake road would pass through a great portion of the most fertile and valuable territory of the Union north of California, and assist in developing the whole of it; while the northern road would be located in a comparative desert, where it would be of little utility in supplying the wants of our resident population.

Puget Sound will, probably, in the course of time, furnish an outlet for the great bulk of Oregon produce, from which place it will be shipped direct to the various seaports of the world; and I think it would be to the interest of the people of the Willamette valley to seek a connection with that outlet rather than with San Francisco, if a choice is to be made between them. Still I do not see why this fact should be urged against the immediate construction of a railroad from Salt Lake to the Columbia river. A railroad constructed on the northern route would undoubtedly help to build up a large city on the Sound; but so also would a railroad from the Willamette valley to that place, and so also would the road which I am advocating, for it would eventually follow up the fertile valley of the Yakima and terminate there. The three roads just referred to will all ultimately be built, and the only question now is, in regard to which should be built first. A railroad from Salt Lake to Puget Sound would connect, some thirty or forty miles north-westerly from Umatilla, with the route surveyed by Gov. Stevens for the proposed northern line; and by building it, a considerable section of the northern road would thereby be finished.

Seattle probably presents more advantages for the terminus of a railroad than any other point on the Sound; and if the shorter lines are built first they will naturally go there; but I venture to say that if the northern line is built first it will not terminate at Seattle, nor at any other town now existing on the Sound; but the company building it will monopolize a terminus of its own, where the city property will belong exclusively to them, and thus be in the hands of non-residents.

It is a mistaken idea to suppose that any considerable portion of the commerce between Europe and Asia will ever cross the American continent, the predictions of many prophets and sons of prophets to the contrary notwithstanding. Where expedition is required that commerce will find cheaper and better means of transit by way of the Isthmuses of Suez, and Panama, and eventually across the continent of Asia, on a railroad that will be built there. Nine-tenths of the business of the American continental roads will be transacted in supplying the wants of the people of the United States; but this business will be of no limited extent. When our population reaches the comparative density of the Old World, it will need not only one, but several continental roads to meet its requirements.

A railroad from Salt Lake to Puget Sound can be built on a tolerably direct line, through a dry country which is not subject to any very high freshets, and over easy grades on a route offering but few engineering obstacles. By following up the valley of the Umatilla river to the mouth of Birch Creek, thence up Birch Creek to its source, and thence down the Grand Ronde river to the Grand Ronde Valley, a natural and easy grade can be obtained across the Blue Mountains, which are, with the exception of the Cascade Range, the only formidable barriers in the way. The distance from Salt Lake to Puget Sound by this route is but little, if any greater than that passed over by the railroad from Salt Lake to San Francisco, while the distance from Puget Sound to the central States of the Union, and probably also to our commercial metropolis, would be less by this route than by any other. This being the case, if Puget Sound has the advantage over the Bay of San Francisco for commercial purposes with Asia, as is claimed by its advocates, shipping would naturally go there, and the central States of the Union would be supplied from that source by means of the Salt Lake and Columbia river road. Certainly it would have the advantage so far as the commerce of Japan and northern Asia is concerned.

I am not sufficiently conversant with railroad matters to make much of an estimate in regard to what would be the immediate profits of a railroad from Salt Lake through Eastern Oregon. The commerce and travel of the Upper Columbia river have supported a line of steamers for several years past. The proposed railroad would pass through a more fertile section of country than does that river, and ought to do a greater amount of local business—to say nothing of the through transportation which would eventually go over it. Besides, it would have neither steamboats nor rival railroads to contend with.

There is one fact in regard to this proposed road which is of considerable interest to the business men and property-holders of Portland. By commencing the road at the Columbia river and following up the Umatilla and Birch creek to the foot of the Blue mountains, a distance of over fifty miles of it could be built on a nearly level grade, and at comparatively small expense. This part of the road would cross the sand belt of the Columbia river, which extends out about twelve miles, and is one of the most formidable obstacles in the way of transporting freight from that river to the interior. Even if the twelve miles just referred to were only built, it would materially assist in getting goods to the interior. Should this road be constructed as far as the Blue mountains, it would offer a great inducement to the citizens of Southern Idaho to continue obtaining their supplies by way of the Columbia river, instead of from some point on the Central railroad, as is now contemplated. Unless this road is built, Portland will soon cease to supply Southern Idaho with merchandise, and the business of the Oregon Steam Navigation Company will be thereby greatly diminished.

It has been intimated that a combination would be formed in Congress for the purpose of building a northern and also a southern continental railroad. This scheme, if accomplished, would of course be fatal to any considerable appropriation, at present, for a railroad from Salt Lake to Puget Sound. But it is also said that a large portion of Congress, and especially the friends of the central route, will oppose any further grants to continental roads. This being the case, it seems to me that the best policy for those members who wish to economize, and also for those who wish to favor the central road, would be to compromise, and appropriate a sufficient amount to build a road from Salt Lake to Puget Sound. This road would answer every necessary purpose at present for developing the Northern Pacific slope by means of a railroad connection with the East; it would also increase the business of the central road; while the northern road could wait until the country is financially better able to build it.

Much more might be said in behalf of the road which I have been advocating. Statistics might be given, for instance, in regard to the capacity and fertility of the various agricultural sections which would naturally become tributary to it in regard to the Walla Walla valley—the Yakima valley—the Grand Ronde valley—the valleys of the various tributaries of Snake river, and also in regard to the placer and quartz mines of southeastern Oregon and southern Idaho but the limits of a newspaper article forbid any very extensive reference to them at present. I may have something more to say about these matters in future.

The Distinguished Dead of 1867.

The death record of the past year [illegible] a considerable number of notable names. The scientific ranks have been thinned; the literary world has lost of its members some who have been celebrities in prose and verse; and men who occupied prominent public positions have fallen. Among the

who are gone, it is fit that we mention first,—as the foremost and most brilliant of these luminaries which, though they may pass beyond our field of vision, still leave an inextinguishable line of light to mark their course,—

MICHAEL FARADAY.—Born in London in 1794, he died in August last, at the age of 73. The son of a smith, and apprenticed in his youth to a bookbinder, he was a self-taught man [illegible] and a student of science, he succeeded at the age of 20 in edging himself into a scientific [illegible] share, by securing, through the influence of Sir Humphrey Davy, a position as [illegible] in the [illegible] of the Royal Institution. The imperishable sparkle of his genius was soon detected by Sir Humphrey, and he became his fast friend. Young Faraday was elected to the Royal Society in 1824. He published several volumes upon [illegible], electricity, and magnetism, and in 1833 became Professor of Chemistry in the Royal Institution. Honors have been conferred upon him by many of the literary societies of Europe. Since 1835 he has been in receipt of a Government pension, and during the last ten years of his life occupied a residence at Hampton Court, specially allotted to his use by the Queen.

LORD ROSSE—whose name is well known in connection with the monster telescope, 52 feet in length, which he constructed and who, though not a creator of worlds, gave "a local habitation and a name" to numbers of them which had previously appeared as mere patches of light, without form and void,—died on the 31st of October last, at his seat, Birr Castle, King's county, Ireland. He succeeded to the earldom in 1841; received the honorary degree of L. L. D. from the University of Cambridge in 1842; was elected President of the Royal Society in 1849, and a member of the Imperial Academy of Sciences at St. Petersburg, in 1853.

THEOPHILE JULES PELOUZE, the friend and associate of Gay Lussac and Liebegig, died on the 31st of May last, at the age of 60. He was the author of several works upon chemistry as applied to different manufactures. At the age of 23, he became Professor of Chemistry at Lille.

PROF. ALEX. D. BACHE, Chief of the United States Coast Survey, died on February 19th, at the age of 60. He was born in Philadelphia. In 1825 he graduated with the highest honors at West Point, and became Lieutenant of Topographical Engineers. In 1827 he was elected Professor of Mathematics in the University of Pennsylvania, and afterwards President of Girard College. In 1843 he received the appointment which he held at the time of his death. He was well known as a thorough scholar, and for the practical applications, valuable to navigators, which he made of his scientific acquirements.

INVENTORS.

ELIAS HOWE, JR., died October 4th, in Brooklyn, N. Y., aged 48. He was notable as the author of one of those inventions which, so to speak, revolutionize the world in the course of a single generation. Every body knows the history of the sewing machine. The story of Mr. Howe's early struggles and final splendid success, has been repeatedly told, and we will not dwell upon it here.

AUTHORS—PROSE.

The name of Miss Catharine M. Sedgwick may be given first under this head. The precedence universally accorded to the sex, and to venerable age, both demand it. She was eighty years old at the time of her death—in August last—and had been before the public as a writer for nearly half a century. She was born in Stockbridge, Mass., in 1787. Her charming style of story-telling made her a general favorite, and she retained her position to the last. In 1857, at the age of seventy, she published a novel with the title "Married or Single?" which is said to be as lively and graceful as any of her younger productions. Her books will live;—and she will be remembered with kindly feeling, not only by thousands of delighted readers, but also by scores of personal friends.

SIR ARCHIBALD ALLISON, the historian, died during the current year at the age of 75 years. He was born at Kenley Vicarage, in Shropshire, England. His father was a clergyman of the Established Church. Sir Archibald is most widely known through his "History of Europe,"—an elaborate work, but one which has been criticised with considerable severity.

VICTOR COUSIN, the philosopher, died in Paris, of apoplexy, January 15th, aged 75. He was the founder of the Eclectic School. Of humble origin, he gave early indication of remarkable talent; and in 1812, having completed the course of study in the Normal School, was appointed Assistant Greek Professor in that institution. In 1815 he began to lecture at the Sorbonne. As a teacher, he was extraordinarily popular; and as a lecturer he attracted crowds. He became a member of the French Academy in 1830.

PROF. CHAS. ANTHON, L. L. D., died in New York City, the place of his birth, in August last, aged 70 years. He graduated with honor at Columbia College in 1815, studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1819. At the age of 23, he was appointed Assistant Professor of the languages in the above named college, and in 1835 was placed at the head of the Grammar School connected with that institution. He was a wonderfully industrious worker; as is proved by the fact that besides the faithful attention to his duties as instructor, he published some fifty volumes, as text books of Greek and Latin authors, with copious notes and commentaries, many of which have been republished in Europe.

J. D. B. DEBOW, died at Elizabeth, New Jersey, on February 27th, aged 47. His name is known in connection with DeBow's Review, which was established by him in New Orleans in 1846, as the organ of the slave interest. In 1848 he became Professor of Political Economy and Commercial Statistics in the University of [illegible]. During the war, he held some [illegible] on the Secession side under Jeff. Davis. [illegible], he determined to devote his journal to the [illegible] interest, under a system of free [illegible]. He was undoubtedly an able man.

CHAS. AUGUSTUS DAVIS, alias "Major Jack Downing," the newspaper Nasby of thirty years ago, died in New York, January 26th, [illegible] 72 years.

POETS.

FITZ-GREENE HALLECK, died on Nov. 21st, at his birth-place, Guilford, Conn., [illegible]. NATHANIEL PARKER WILLIS, died in New York, January 21st, aged sixty. For the [illegible] part of his life he has been [illegible] the public as a poet, sketch-writer, and [illegible] of his poetical effusions, written in the [illegible] of his youth, have [illegible] to rank [illegible] this [illegible] but [illegible] the [illegible] position which he [illegible] has that of [illegible] cultivated litterateur of [illegible] that of poet. [illegible]

In [illegible] 1862, Gen. Grant wrote a letter to E. B. W[illegible] in which he declared it was [illegible] that the North and South could never live [illegible] except as one nation [illegible] As anxious as he was to [illegible] he would not therefore [illegible] until this [illegible] was [illegible] This letter is published in the W[illegible] Chronicle. It will be seen that it was written [illegible] months before the [illegible]

At the [illegible] Alliance [illegible] Conference [illegible] in the [illegible] of the [illegible] was read by [illegible] to know that the Catholics are now the most numerous sect in the United States, numbering not less than four [illegible]

[illegible] but [illegible] he has [illegible] to lose by having his hypocrisy and false, [illegible] long ago [illegible] to the bottom.

The Government has been defrauded by President Johnson's revenue collectors of $100,000,000 on whisky, and $25,000,000 on tobacco in the past twelve months. The public debt will be likely to be rapidly paid off if this [illegible] of politicians get [illegible] of the Government.

The Democracy tried to make General Rosecrans their candidate for Governor of California, but he snubbed them. Had this unpleasant [illegible] not occurred, the party would now, in all probability, be [illegible] after him as its candidate for P[illegible]

State Taxation.

Speaking of State taxation, and wondering where the money goes, the Herald remarks:

> The people [illegible] far only know that their taxes have been doubled and trebled under Republican rule, and that the State has nothing to show, at all [illegible] the apparently flourishing [illegible] finances of the State officers.

All [illegible] that the [illegible] taxes have been [illegible] since 1867, when the Union party [illegible] into power; and no doubt all, or nearly all, know the reason. We do not intend at this time to go into details showing the necessary increase of expenditures by the State since the time when the Democratic party controlled it; but as the Herald and its friends have often spoken of this matter, and seem to need light on it, we will just mention for their benefit one principal item of expense which did not exist before 1862. After the Union party obtained control of the State, provision was made for keeping the insane at State expense. By comparing the report of the State Treasurer for the two years ending in September, 1866, with the report of the same officer for the two years ending in September, 1862, it will be seen that the expense of keeping the insane for the period first indicated was larger by $21,438 60 than the whole cost of the State government for the two years prior to September, 1862. We mention this fact in no spirit of fault-finding, but as an explanation which the repeated charges of the unscrupulous organs of the Democratic party renders necessary. The Herald has commended the management of the State Insane Asylum, and favors its continuance. Yet it grumbles about the taxes which are necessary to meet that and other unavoidable charges upon the Treasury which did not exist prior to 1862. This appears the more inconsiderate, as one of the gentlemen who have the management of the asylum for the insane, is a principal owner in the Herald, and one of the directors of the association which publishes that paper.

The amount of taxable property in the State in 1860, as shown by the report of Secretary of State was $21,888,951. In 1865, the amount of taxable property was $24,872,762 24, an increase of only one million dollars. Thus, as we have shown, while it became necessary to raise more than double the revenue in 1865, which had [illegible] in 1860, the taxable property during this period had increased very little. We trust this plain statement of facts will be understood by those who have been prating about the taxes having been "doubled under Republican rule."

[illegible] of the other expenditures of the State have been [illegible] since 1862. For example, the charges on the judicial fund for the two years ending in 1866 were about $6,500 more than for the two years ending in 1862, an increase [illegible] by the organization of an additional judicial district for the eastern part of the State. The [illegible] of the printing fund were considerably [illegible] by the [illegible] and printing of the whole laws of the State, a charge that will not be [illegible] again for years. The [illegible] on the [illegible] of [illegible] by the [illegible] of land near Salem as a site for the new penitentiary, and by the erection of buildings for the occupation and safe keeping of the [illegible] All these [illegible] have helped to [illegible] the taxes. We might go through the [illegible] and [illegible] in [illegible] that even the [illegible] of the Herald [illegible] be brought to [illegible] what [illegible] but as we are writing for the [illegible] will suffice [illegible] of State [illegible]

The [illegible] at the [illegible] the [illegible] of its author, and therefore [illegible] it must be [illegible] the [illegible] individuals [illegible] about the [illegible] the Governor and other State [illegible] the [illegible] and paid for it the enormous sum of [illegible] they are sure he is guilty of peculation [illegible] It is [illegible] to the last [illegible]

The society [illegible] purpose to donate the proceeds of the concert to the Library Association, and we hope to see them [illegible] by a large and [illegible] on the [illegible] both as a [illegible] to the members of the Society and as a [illegible] of contributing material aid to the [illegible] of the Library [illegible]

The Library Association has [illegible] to be an institution that is [illegible] to its founders and the city. [illegible] has and [illegible] in maintaining [illegible] and attraction to the city, and as a [illegible] of furnishing the [illegible] of the [illegible] of the day to the [illegible]

At present the Association has 138 paying members, from whom, in addition to a small sum for initiation fees, it derives a revenue of $1,656 per annum. [illegible] ten per cent of the cost of books, magazines and newspapers, is about $1,800 per annum. The press of the State now generally contribute a copy of their publications to it free of charge.

In the Library [illegible] there are now 2,300 volumes [illegible] valuable and standard works—purchased at a cost of $4,237 62. In the reading room there are 40 newspapers and eight magazines [illegible] The number of volumes [illegible] out in the month of November was 486.

In conversation with a friend he states, positively, that the report [illegible] which [illegible] him [illegible] General Grant was a misrepresentation. [illegible] and Back Again.—Two or three days since [illegible] the fact that the [illegible] ship Ajax brought up, [illegible] late trip, 60,000 pounds of wool to the Oregon City Woolen Manufacturing Co. We have since learned [illegible] every pound of it went from this State to [illegible]. The ship [illegible] being unwilling to sell here at the prevailing price, sent it to San Francisco, where instead of finding a better market, they found it could not [illegible] at all, without heavy loss as compared with the [illegible] at Portland. Some of it, however, was sold [illegible], and the Oregon City buyers got what they [illegible] a fraction over that. The [illegible] of Oregon cannot, of course be questioned for protesting the [illegible] price for what they have to sell; but it [illegible] that it is poor [illegible] to ship wool away, [illegible] to markets [illegible] In this case the Oregon City Co. may have [illegible] to buy the same wool at 20c per pound that [illegible] the price [illegible] for wool. [illegible] of taking that the [illegible] that there was an attempt to cheat them, and refused not to be cheated, sent it to San Francisco and sold it for 20@21c. The people may as well learn that, as a general rule, the jobbing [illegible] of [illegible] pay [illegible] much for the products of Oregon [illegible]

[illegible] the price [illegible] they can [illegible] at the same article. And they may as well [illegible]

The [illegible] the forge of Mr. [illegible] we have [illegible] official report [illegible] clock A. M. [illegible]. At [illegible] the [illegible] 18 degrees, with snow falling; [illegible]; Yreka, only 2 [illegible] above zero. At Portland, 8 A. M., the thermometer [illegible] with a [illegible] a little hazy. The [illegible] the day was chilly [illegible] by the thermometer.

[illegible]—The [illegible] at the North Port [illegible] was an exceedingly lively one. At an early [illegible] the ice was taken [illegible] of by a great crowd of [illegible] of all ages, sizes, [illegible] and [illegible]—save [illegible]. The latter [illegible] there—heap on [illegible] too much [illegible] wrong end up. But everything [illegible] a few [illegible] too sick or [illegible] to get out. Among the crowd were quite a number of [illegible], some of which [illegible] able [illegible] in the exercise of skating. The sport was kept up during the entire day. [illegible]

The Portland Evening Bulletin.—This [illegible] daily [illegible] last [illegible] half the size of the Daily Oregonian, has a [illegible] neat [illegible] appearance, and a very fair proportion of [illegible] matter. It [illegible] religious bias, and [illegible] as the salutatory [illegible] says, that it will "devote itself exclusively to [illegible] interests of the [illegible] of this city and State, the [illegible] of general news, and faithfully chronicle all local affairs of interest."

[illegible] Through.—During the skating hours, [illegible] of several [illegible] who fell through the ice, [illegible] ran on to places but slightly [illegible] over. No [illegible], however, received any further injury from such [illegible] than getting wet and rather cold. There are [illegible] holes and thin places in the ice of the lake, which [illegible] be plainly marked by some warning device.

U. S. [illegible] Court Proceedings of Jan. [illegible] In bankruptcy [illegible] A. and M. B. [illegible] to M. A. [illegible] for a jury in the case of R. A. [illegible] Yesterday, in the [illegible] H. Farrell, in bankruptcy, the [illegible] till the 15th inst.

[illegible] from San Francisco state that the [illegible] and others [illegible] with the Pacific Railroad [illegible], are coming up [illegible] to begin work. When the [illegible] arrives we shall take pains to let people know.

[illegible] Court.—Two of the parties engaged in the [illegible] row at N[illegible] Lodge room last Saturday evening, have been arrested and will have a trial this morning before the Recorder, on the charge of assault and battery.

County Court.—There were no final proceedings of [illegible] in the County Court yesterday, the [illegible] being occupied in the hearing of preliminary matters.

Excited and Neglectful.—Through the excitement of skating, etc., we neglected yesterday morning to acknowledge the receipt from Mr. M. B. Millard and from Mr. E. J. Northrup, of the "compliments of the season"—in the shape of a pair of nice skates from each. If anybody wants skates, anybody can find them of [illegible] at any variety at either place—large [illegible] enough for any man, small enough for any boy and [illegible] for any lady.

Capitol, Olympia, Dec. 11th, 1867.

Dr. Gross, Portland—Sir: I have been in the habit of [illegible] the "Henley Royal Balsam" in my family, who reside at Wallula, Walla Walla county, W. T. I am now at Olympia, attending the present session of the Legislature, and the climate is so different from that of Walla Walla county that I have taken cold, and I have endeavored to purchase some of the medicine here but was unable to do so. Please send a bottle up immediately by mail, I have used nothing else in my family and cannot get along without it. Yours truly,

DR. C. W. COOL,
DENTIST.

THOSE WHO DESIRE FIRST-CLASS DENTAL SERVICES might do well to give him a call. He is making a NEW AND IMPROVED VULCANITE PLATE. The nature of his improvement consists in lining the entire concave surface with fine gold; it makes the plate twice as strong and one [illegible] times thinner than the common vulcanite plate. It also prevents the acids of the mouth from roughing the plate, and from turning it black, which is a common occurrence. One half of the common vulcanite plates turn black after being in use a short time, particularly where tobacco is used for smoking. His new style of plate admits of a very fine finish on the [illegible] or palate surface. His office is the only place where such work can be had. The improvement is his own invention, for which he has received [illegible] 3d, 1867, a patent from the United States Patent Office. He has been making this style of work for the last two and a half years, and has specimens of the work which can be [illegible]. This work has given [illegible] tion in every case.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU

Is a certain cure for diseases of the BLADDER, KIDNEYS, GRAVEL, DROPSY, ORGANIC WEAKNESS, FEMALE COMPLAINTS, GENERAL DEBILITY, and all diseases of the URINARY ORGANS,
whether existing in
MALE OR FEMALE,
from whatever cause originating and no matter of
HOW LONG STANDING.

Diseases of these organs require the use of a diuretic. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or Insanity may ensue. Our flesh and blood are supported from these sources, and the HEALTH AND HAPPINESS, and that of Posterity, depends upon prompt use of a reliable remedy.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU, established upwards of 18 years, prepared by
H. T. HELMBOLD, Druggist, 594 Broadway, New York, and jan6d1m 104 South 10th Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

PERRY DAVIS' VEGETABLE PAIN KILLER.

THE UNIVERSAL REMEDY FOR INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL COMPLAINTS!

At this period there are but few of the human race unacquainted with the merits of the Pain Killer; but while some extol it as a liniment, they know but little of its power in easing pain when taken internally, while others use it internally with great success, but are equally ignorant of its healing virtues when applied externally. We therefore wish to say to all that it is equally successful whether used internally or externally, and it stands alone, unrivalled by all the great catalogue of Family Medicines, and its sale is universal and [illegible]. The demand for it from India and other foreign [illegible] is equal to the demand at home, and it has become known in these far off places by its merits.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU is pleasant in taste and odor, free from all injurious properties, and immediate in its action.

Just Cause for being Alarmed.—When a Cough has been running for a long time, and you begin to feel a pain setting in upon your lungs, attended with tightness across the chest, it is high time that you should awaken to the danger of your disease, which is fast running into Consumption. Now, before it is too late, use ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM, which will cure the disease, and all will be well with you. For sale by the Dealers in Family Medicines generally.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU gives health and vigor to the frame and bloom to the pallid cheek. Debility is accompanied by many alarming symptoms, and if no treatment is [illegible] to, consumption, insanity, or epileptic fits ensue.

Old Times.

There's a beautiful song on the slumbrous air,
That drifts through the valley of dreams,
It comes from a clime where the roses were,
And a tuneful heart and bright brown hair,
That waved in the morning beams.

Soft eyes of azure and eyes of brown,
And snow white foreheads are there;
A glimmering Cross and a glittering Crown,
A thorny bed and a couch of down,
Lost [illegible] and leaflets of prayer.

A breath of Spring in the breezy woods,
Sweet wafts from the quivering pines—
Blue violet eyes beneath green hoods,
A babble of brooklets, a scent of buds,
Blue warblers and clambering vines.

A rosy wreath and dimpled hand,
A ring and a slighted vow—
Three golden links of a broken band,
A tiny track on the snow white sand,
A tear and a stainless brow.

There are traces of grief in the beautiful song,
That sobs in the slumbrous air,
And loneliness felt in the festive throng
Sinks deep on the soul as it trembles along
From a clime where the roses were.

We heard it first at the dawn of day,
And it mingled with matin chimes.
But years have distanced the beautiful lay,
And the [illegible] floweth from far away,
And we call it now Old Times.

The Black Crook.

As the "Black Crook" is one of the most wonderful dramas ever produced on the American stage, a few remarks concerning it may not be uninteresting. The author, or rather the playwright of the piece, is Mr. C. M. Barras, a well known journalist of New York State. About ten years ago Mr. Barras was one of the members of the press of Buffalo, when Miss Sallie St. Clair, the talented vocalist and comedienne, visited that city. At that time Miss St. Clair was almost unknown to fame, and Mr. Barras brought her into notice with his pen, and afterwards accompanied her through the county on a "starring" tour as [illegible], and subsequently became her husband. Miss St. Clair was a fair actress, and played several successful engagements in the principal cities of the United States and Canada. While on one of their tours through the country, Mr. Barras wrote an [illegible] literary piece called "Hypocondriac," in which he always played the leading role, but the piece was never successful, and was always shelved after the first representation only to be taken down again when the next city was reached.

After being on the boards about half a dozen years as a "star," Miss St. Clair had to relinquish her dramatic career through sickness, and after lingering for a [illegible] period on a sick bed, she died about two years ago, lamented by all who had ever known her on or off the stage. Meanwhile, Barras had returned to his first love, the press, making New York city his headquarters, and became a regular Bohemian, writing for the newspapers and dabbling in dramatic matters generally. About two and a half years ago he conceived the bright idea of writing the piece now so widely known as the "Black Crook." The plan and plot was similar to the one of the young man who took a copy of "the [illegible] tions from the poets," and by stealing a line here and there, managed to produce a very fair poem which he palmed off as original production. Instead of poems, Mr. Barras used operas, dramas, burlesques, [illegible] stories and comedies for his piece, with certain [illegible] Der Freischutz, Undine, the Naiad Queen, Swiss Cottage, and others too numerous to mention. To this hotchpotch he gave the name of "The Black Crook," and then offered it to several New York managers, Mr. Wm. Wheatley of Niblo's Garden among the number.

About this time two gentlemen, Messrs. Jarrett and Palmer, arrived at New York from Paris, with a large number of danseuses, coryphees and ballet girls, intending to give ballets on a large scale at the Academy of Music. Among the principal dancers were San Gallie and the Rigal [illegible] had [illegible] a much celebrity in [illegible] were [illegible] for the grand ballet representations, the Academy of Music was [illegible] entirely destroyed by fire. Mr. Wheatley was then applied to on the subject of giving the ballets at his theater, and after [illegible] he agreed to the proposition. He purchased the [illegible] production of the Black Crook from [illegible], paying three thousand dollars for the right to play it in New York, insisting that the several acts should merely form [illegible] the brilliant ballet spectacles which were to follow each other. This was about two and a half years ago. When the bargain was concluded [illegible] Palmer, Jarrett and Mr. W[illegible], the former agreeing to supply the [illegible] and the latter the [illegible] and scenery, [illegible] painters and costumers went to work. The spectacle was produced at great [illegible] dollars being expended in getting it up, by Mr. Wheatley. As the time drew near for the production, Mr. Wheatley had very serious doubts as to its success, and only the day before offered publicly to sell out at $5,000 loss, but [illegible] takers. Few, if any, of the New York [illegible] to risk such an [illegible] of one piece. [illegible] it has been [illegible] of the word, for it has been "running" nightly for the past two years, and gives evidence of "running" for a couple of years more. Mr. Wheatley, it is said, has [illegible] about $200,000 as his share of the profits, and Messrs. Palmer and Jarrett [illegible].

Mr. B[illegible] the right to play the piece, or to sell the [illegible] to do so, in the other cities of [illegible] the [illegible] of several [illegible] was Mr. John E. McDonough, who was very [illegible] "The [illegible]," a few years ago, and latterly with the [illegible] Irish drama of "Arrah Na Pogue." [illegible] into the field, and at the present time there are no less than twenty "Black Crooks" being produced in various parts of the [illegible], the [illegible] having been [illegible] Mr. B[illegible].

THE [illegible] FALLS OF THE YELLOWSTONE.—A [illegible] of the F[illegible] Index thus writes [illegible] the Yellowstone:

Two main forks of the Yellowstone—one having [illegible] and the other approaching [illegible] Fork of Snake river, in the same vicinity that the Madison and Gallatin rise [illegible] into the big lake which has for its outlet the Yellowstone river, and just below the lake the whole river falls over the face of a mountain, [illegible] feet, the spray rising several hundred. [illegible] by a watch in dropping from an overhanging crag of one perpendicular fall, and is said to have required eleven and a half seconds to strike the river below. That beats Niagara Falls all "hollow." The river at these greatest falls is represented to be half as large as the [illegible] at [illegible], and as clear as crystal. The lake, like all others in these mountains, is thick with salmon trout of from five to forty pounds weight, and where the milky, boiling mineral waters from the star belt geysers intermingle with the pure, clear water from the running streams, [illegible] elegant fish can be forked up by the bushel. A few years more and the U. P. Railroad will bring thousands of pleasure seekers, [illegible] and invalids from every part of the globe, to see this land of surpassing wonders.

Casserly's election was, according to the Examiner, "another offering of conciliation by the [illegible] Democracy (Haight's having been the first sacrifice that they offered). To them he owes his triumph, and without their aid would never have risen five votes above the nine he received on the first night of the caucus." Probably that is so; but why did they thus honor him? It is not that they bore him any love; not that they deemed him the representative of their policy; not that he is more acceptable to them than John Conness would be, because there must have been a powerful pressure which the public does not yet comprehend that forced the chivalry to vote for Casserly. We know of several things that might help to open the Examiner's eyes on the subject, but are not now at liberty disclose them. The eagles of France as the eagles of America played a prominent part in this [illegible] affair.—Sac. Bee.

Fernando Wood is a good witness on all matters concerning the inside machinery of the Democratic party in New York. In a late speech he testified as follows:

"I charge that at the late election the Tammany Hall organization imported thieves from Philadelphia to vote their ticket; that these thieves were organized in different wards of the city, and that bands of [illegible] voted in more than sixty wards, and in more than one hundred and twenty-five [illegible] districts. More than that; it is [illegible] several of the inspectors of election, after [illegible] the ballot from the voter, substituted [illegible] ballot and deposited it in the box."

The Hon. John M. Botts, of Virginia, states that two intelligent colored blacksmiths were informed that if they voted for him as a delegate to the convention, their places of business would be destroyed. They did vote for him, and the very next evening their shops were burned to the ground.

HIRAM SMITH'S

Ophthalmic Panacea!

IN BRINGING THE ABOVE-NAMED NEW REMEDY to the notice of the Public, the Proprietor begs to state a few facts in relation to it, as follows:

It originated in Prussia, where the science of Medicine is so thoroughly taught and practised, but owing to the poverty of its discoverer its wonderful properties were not known beyond the limited circle of his acquaintance, in which, however, it proved itself absolutely infallible in eradicating disease from the eyes.

He immigrated to this country, bringing his discovery with him, but seems to have been indifferent to the propriety of giving it general and wide-spread circulation, and, as previously in his native country, seemed only desirous of using it among his friends and neighbors.

The present proprietor was one of those neighbors, and for many years was a witness to its wonderful efficacy, and, after ineffectual efforts to persuade the inventor to more widely disseminate the knowledge of its virtues, finally became himself the possessor of the secret of its preparation.

And now, while he does not deny that he hopes and expects to make money by its sale, he must yet lay claim to a desire to benefit his fellows by presenting to them a remedy which does and will cure where medical science and all experience have failed.

He wishes it to be understood that it will cure all diseases of the eye, whether of recent or long standing; but its greatest power is exhibited when it is applied to old Chronic Cases of long standing, which have resisted every other attempt to cure them, and which have been given up as hopeless and past being cured or relieved.

He asks those afflicted in this way to give it a trial, and so confident is he of its success that he instructs all his agents TO REFUND THE MONEY IF IT FAILS TO CURE.

It has, within the past year, cured cases of GRANULATED LIDS, INFLAMMATION, &c., of FIVE, SIX, NINE, FIFTEEN and SEVENTEEN YEARS STANDING, [illegible] fact is furnished in the testimony of the following persons, living at and in the neighborhood of Harrisburg, Linn county:

ALEXANDER L. WALKER was cured of inflamed eyes, of nine years standing. Had been treated by eminent physicians during all that time without effect.

MRS. MONTGOMERY, of Harrisburg, had inflamed eyes for over two years. For one year they were so bad that she could not work. Was finally completely cured by the Ophthalmic Panacea.

E. B. MOORE, of the firm of Moore, Garst & Baber, of Harrisburg, had granulated lids for six years.

NATHANIEL BELL, of Clackamas county, had inflamed eyes a half [illegible] for over fifteen years.

ROBERT RAMPEY and W. D. PORTER, of Harrisburg; JOHN M. HOLLOWAY, of Linn County; G. R. WARD, of Lane County, were all afflicted, more or less severely, with diseased eyes, and were cured by the Ophthalmic Panacea.

All the above named persons have given lengthy testimonials to the facts as above stated, which may be seen at the proprietor's office in Harrisburg.

DR BARLOW J SMITH'S WATER CURE AND Phrenological Institute, 627 Sacramento Street, San Francisco. This is the only Regular Water Cure in Francisco, where all curable diseases are treated without drugs. Dr Smith was the first to establish a water cure on this coast, based upon the theory and practice of the New York Hydropathic College.

We have a truly healthful boarding place for men, women and children, and our prices are moderate.

The Phrenological organs plainly indicate the diseases to which any person, male or female, is predisposed.

Put this card in your hat, and when you come to San Francisco, call on Dr. Smith. He will give you consultation and a phrenological examination in regard to health. It will cost you nothing and may save you months and years of ill health and "bad luck."

Dr. Smith gives free lectures to gentlemen every friday evening on subjects pertaining to health, at his Phrenological Hall, 627 Sacramento Street.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

616 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, wasted and disfigured faces and their broken down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of these charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are [illegible] under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

TO THE LADIES.

The various complicated and distressing diseases incident to females, treated with eminent success. Such as Suppressions, Irregularities, Whites, Falling of the Womb, Tumors, all Urinary Diseases, Nervous Debility, Pains or Difficult Menstruation, Barrenness, etc., will be speedily cured, without poisonous drugs, injurious or unpalatable medicines of any kind. Have no delicacy in calling, no difference what your troubles may be. The afflicted are cordially invited to call and satisfy themselves.

Persons calling at Dr. Gibbon's office or sending for packages of medicines, may rely upon his sacred vow of confidential secrecy with implicit faith, and expect no more than to be charged with, a fair, and mutually satisfactory remuneration for services rendered, [illegible] the circumstances and difficulties of cases, rather than a too prevalent and selfish practice of extortion among quacks and pretenders.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in a registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 616 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco. Post Office Box 252.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 252 ON THE LETTER. Consultations FREE.

☞ Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the Daily Oregonian.
